Mississippi.

Another negro was killed at Coal Creek, Fountain County, Saturday. Frank Kelley, an ex-miner and hard case generally, on whose testimony the persons arrested for the massacre last month were acquitted, was passing a house in which a number of colored persons resided. Sam Mims was standing in the door. Kelley drew his revolver and shot Mims twice, wounding him fatally. He then opened fire on a party of negroes sitting in the yard, wounding two of them, after which he ran to the house of Charles Habberman, a few rods distant. The miners, having guns near at hand, got them and pursued Kelley, and commenced a vigorous fire on the house, which they literally riddled with bullets, but inflicted only a slight wound on Kelley's arm. A man named Geysdale, who participated in last month's affair, was in the house, and was shot through the leg. The colored men, it is claimed, set fire to the house, but a miners lamp found close at hand may have caused the fire. The firing shortly ceased, and the miners concluded to hold Kelley prisoner, which they did until Deputy Sheriff Potts arrived from Covington, at 3 P. M., when he proceeded to arrest the entire party of negroes, forty in number, several of whom had no participation in the matter; but he paid no attention to Kelley, who would probably have been permitted to escape if it had not been for Col. James McMannomy, who, acting on his authority as a member of a company of horse-thief detectives, took the man in custody and had him conveyed to Covington, where, soon after his arrival, he was committed to jail by Justice Long, in default of providing a $5,000 bond. Not content with arresting a promiscuous crowd of negroes without a warrant or pretense of authority, the deputy sheriff permitted many of the colored miners' houses to be broken into under the pretext of searching for the rifles which it was thought were in their possession.

This authorized search was continued until Col. McMannomy, Senator Dye and some other influential citizens protested and compelled the sheriff's helpers to desist. The Justice offered to accept bail in the sum of $200 for each of the negroes. Most of them, however, preferred going to jail for the night rather than going back to Coal Creek to be exposed to further threats and violence.

Sunday morning about thirty members of the organized Wabash Guards, commanded by Captain Tipton, entered Pardee's shaft and forcibly took therefrom several guns which were the private property of the mine operators and bosses. The same thing was done by officers of the Sheriff, Saturday evening, at Phelps' shaft, and at the houses of a number of the colored and non-union men. These rifles have, it is said, been placed in the hands of the same men who killed the three negroes last month, and they patrolled the streets of the town again under the command of the redoubtable Capt. Tipton, as pretended conservators of the public peace.

There are two elements in the county which are determined to get rid of the negroes at any price. One is the Democratic politicians and their tools, who do not like their habit of voting the Republican ticket; the other is the union miners who want their places. Between the two they have reduced that part of the State to a condition closely resembling that of Mississippi in the last campaign.

Judge Davidson telegraphed yesterday from Covington to Gov. Williams that the local authorities of Fountain County either could not or would not preserve order, and asking that assistance be furnished him. Capt. Nick Ruckle and 54 men, each with 100 rounds of ammunition, were sent.

The Democrats and Nationals are uniting everywhere to carry the Legislature for Dan Voorhees. Will the Republicans in the National movement lend themselves to this scheme? We hope not.

We again suggest to the uneasy Democracy of this District that Capt. J. J. Smiley, of this city, is the proper man for them to nominate for Congress.

A libel suit against the Cincinnati Commercial for $10,000 has just been concluded at Cincinnati, with a verdict of "not guilty." A burglary had been committed on a doctor's residence to gain possession of important papers in a suit for seduction. A small porcelain porcupine, used as a paper-weight, was carried off with the papers. A reporter of the Commercial afterwards thought he discovered the identical porcupine in the office of a Col. Snelbaker, one of the attorneys for the defense in the seduction case, and very properly published that fact in his paper. Hence the suit for libel, and—the verdict. At the conclusion of the trial the Commercial dropped into rhyme as follows:

"The poor old porcupine has shot his last quill,
And hung up his fiddle and his bow;
There's no more work for the lawyers now to do,
So they'll have to take the shovel and the hoe."

The last case of lawyer Snelbaker is now worse than the first.

At last Terre Haute has a Republican newspaper, edited and published by Isaac M. Brown, the oldest editor in the State. Having had much and varied experience he will make the Republican a success if there is any virtue in application and hard work. It is a pleasure to note that the new paper starts out with a good advertising patronage, showing that the Republicans of Terre Haute are giving it that kind of support that is necessary to insure success and encourage it to make a strong fight for the good cause.

Mrs. Nancy E. Clem, of Indianapolis, is in jail again, this time on the charge of robbery. We believe she is the most astute criminal of the age, and it is not at all creditable to Marion county that her career was not brought to a close in the Young murder case. There has been incompetency, a want of courage, or something worse, somewhere. Marion county can build an extravagant Court House, but can't enforce the law against a smart criminal.

A Thief is a Thief for all That.
The National Greenbacker denounces Republicans as thieves—Greencastle Banner.

We do not claim that all Republicans are thieves, but that all public thieves are Republicans.—National Greenbacker.

That don't sound much like Charlie Crow. Was such a thought lying dormant in his mind when he was a shouting Republican here only two short years ago?

Thomas E. Garvin, just nominated for Congress by the Democrats of the First District, is a stockholder in a National bank, is a bloated bondholder, and was a leading Know-Nothing. All he lacks of being a full-fledged Democrat is a salary-grab and a skinned black cat, and he will probably come to these.

Gen. McKenzie and Col. Shafter have invaded Mexico, each with a considerable force, and trouble is apprehended.

Hogs have advanced fifty cents on the hundred the past week.

Congress adjourned yesterday.

Carpentersville.

Our temperance work is still going on. We had a large meeting Friday night, receiving 26 additions to our club. We now number 221, and, with very few exceptions, they are sticking to the pledge all right. Brothers Jack Stevens and Critchfield attended our meeting Friday night. Brother Critchfield made a speech of two hours in length, and the people were better pleased with it than with any speech we have yet had. In fact, it could not have been beaten very easily. We want him to come back again.

Our Club is going to Fincastle tomorrow (Tuesday) night to organize a Blue Ribbon club there. Brother Critchfield will be there also. I am told that he made a fine speech at Bainbridge last night. Our club is invited to organize a club at New Maysville in a short time, which we expect to do. It is a great wonder to all how this movement is spreading all over the country.

Wheat never looked better, and a great deal will be harvested the last of this week—at least two weeks earlier than usual. Farmers have their corn in a good fix generally. Corn is a little late, but the prospect is good otherwise. Oats look fine. Fruit in abundance; peach-trees are beginning to break down already with their weight.

There was a big trial before Squire Pickel, last Friday, over the rights of property in a horse and buggy, claimed by a Chicago firm, and also a replevin suit by Thomas A. Shultz. Shultz was beaten this, the second time.

Squire Pickel made two souls happy yesterday, by joining them together in wedlock, and after that all enjoyed a good wedding dinner. The couple were Mr. J. M. Branson and Miss N. E. Perkins.

Jasper Rice is very sick.

We hear a great deal of complaint of chills and fever.

Mr. Seybold has organized a Sunday School for this summer at Fret Dad. Our Sunday Schools here are in good condition. All who attend take great interest in the lessons.

From all that can be gathered of the recent disturbance in Quebec, we are assured that it had neither its inception nor execution among the honest and industrious working classes of that community. Nor does the people of this country feel any apprehensions as to its effect among the intelligent working classes of the United States. The men who originated and led the mob at Quebec were idling vagabonds who would not work at any price.

From Washington.

COLLECTED FROM THE DAILIES FOR THE GREENCASTLE BANNER.

WASHINGTON, June 13.

The loss of the Oregon Legislature and consequent loss of a Senator causes considerable mortification among Republicans here. They had not counted upon this, and the case is doubly aggravating as it comes at a time when the party could ill afford it. A handsome working majority is now assured the Democrats in the Senate after March. The present employees of that body are looking with alarm upon the prospect, and Democratic aspirants for the fat places are already offering. It is charged by some that Mitchell caused the loss of the Legislature by his anxiety to secure his return to the Senate. It is alleged that he is a weak man and a heavy weight on the party, and the disaffected elements took this method to unload him.

Senator Edmunds declared, in the Senate debate on the army bill, that had the doctrine set forth in the House amendment prevailed in '91, "President Lincoln and every officer under him would have been liable to the penitentiary for trying to preserve the Government."

Six nations have accepted the invitation to the international monetary conference provided for by the silver-bill—France, Italy, Russia, Switzerland, Holland and Greece. Secretary Evans will proceed to arrange details for the meeting of the conference.

A number of prominent New York politicians arrived here yesterday, understood to have been sent by Tilden. The ground they take is that the Forty-fourth Congress had no power to delegate to the Electoral Commission a settlement of the Presidential election. Consequently there has never been a proper count of the electoral votes, and that the Potter committee will so find, and that it will devolve on the present Congress to make a recount. Numerous consultations are held between these Tilden emissaries and prominent Democratic members of both houses.

Several resolutions have been prepared looking to the reaffirming of Mr. Hayes' title, and a declaration that any attempt to interfere with it except by impeachment is not entertained. A majority of the Democrats insist that something of this sort must be done or several able members will be left at home after the next election. A minority, led by Randall, are trying to keep down any expression on the subject. There is a lively fight going on inside the ranks, with chances largely in favor of reaffirming Hayes' title. The Southern members are particularly anxious, as they fear the Independent movement in the South will gain irresistible headway. In Georgia alone, it is conceded that the Independents will carry three districts if this session closes without an emphatic declaration that Hayes is not to be interfered with, or any attempt made except by impeachment in the regular and constitutional way.

Representative Singleton, of Mississippi, says that he owes his first and highest duty to the State which he in part represents. States' Rights is not dead.

The Democrats will not derive much satisfaction from the assertion made by Senator Ben Hill that prior to the decision of the Electoral Commission forty-two ex-Confederates, members of Congress, secretly pledged themselves to oppose any efforts made to prevent the counting of the votes for President and Vice President. It was an honest, honorable action, and was a pledge to abide by the count. Accepting this statement as correctly given, and believing that it will be fairly adhered to, it is evident that the Tilden faction cannot carry out their conspiracy to a successful conclusion. In fact, Mr. Hill is reported to have said that if anybody attempts to inaugurate a revolution the ex-rebels will put it down. We will not allow it. That sort of talk is proof of more patriotism than is contained in all the Northern Democrats, singly or collectively.

That was a very decided snub which Secretary Evans gave the Potter committee in his reply to-day to the request for all documents concerning the MacVeagh Louisiana Commission. He said he had consulted the President, and they had arrived at the conclusion that there was nothing in the desired correspondence that might not properly be given to the public, and therefore he had sent it to the Speaker of the House. This is a slap at the committee for its airy conduct in its intercourse with the Executive branch of the Government. Mr. Evans rebuked the Potter crowd by forwarding his documents through the proper channel.

Secretary Sherman speaks with warmth in reference to the attempt to make capital out of the simple fact that a bank in New York had advanced $5,000 towards the expenses of the Commission to New Orleans. He said there was nothing wrong in the transaction, and nothing that he or others had attempted to hide from the public. After the President had appointed the Commission he asked Mr. Sherman how money was to be had to pay their expenses. Mr. Sherman looked up the law and found no act by which money could be taken from the Treasury for such a purpose, even upon order of the President. Assistant Secretary Conant suggested that the President of the First National Bank in New York was a warm friend of his, and would undoubtedly advance the money until Congress made an appropriation. He asked the favor and the bank complied. Over a thousand dollars of the $5,000 was not used and was returned to the bank. The balance is still owing them. Sherman thought the Commissioners should have $500 each for their services, and wrote to the House Appropriations Committee to this effect, saying that $6,000 would cover everything. It was learned that Ben. Butler, out of personal spite at Wayne MacVeagh, one of the Commissioners, would antagonize the appropriation, and make an unseemly row, whereupon it was withdrawn from the House, and Sherman sent it to Windom, of the Senate Appropriations Committee. This is the whole story. The grand discovery, so called, telegraphed over the country, is no discovery at all, for there has been nothing in it from the first.

The Senate Committee on privileges and elections have agreed, by a vote of six to three, to report against the proposed 16th amendment, giving the women the right of suffrage. Those who voted for the proposition were Hoar, Mitchell and Cameron, of Wisconsin. Those who voted against it were Messrs. Wadsworth, Ingalls, McMillan, Salisbury, Merrimon and Hill. The majority does not pronounce against female suffrage, but takes the ground that it is better to leave this question to the States for settlement.

June 17.

The Hayes Title resolution, precipitated upon the House Friday, was a genuine surprise to the Democrats. They were looking for the resolution from their own side, if it came at all, and had an understanding that it should not be launched upon the House without due consideration and foreknowledge. Hence their surprise foreknowledge. Hence their surprise foreknowledge.

Like thunder from a clear sky, a resolution affirming Hayes' title came from the Republican side. Mr. Burchard, of Illinois, upon his own responsibility and without general consultation with his party associates, threw in his resolution affirming that Hayes' title could not be touched by either house of Congress, or by both. Although surprised, the Republicans were not thrown into the greatest confusion. They pranced about in the aisles and lobbies as if each was possessed of a small devil that he was anxious to shake off. They gathered in knots, gesticulated wildly, sawing the air with their arms as if in that manner they could cut a way out of the difficulty. Mr. Burchard gave them no time to caucus even in groups. He moved that the rules be suspended and the resolution passed, and upon this called for the yeas and nays. The Clerk called the roll. There was great confusion on the Democratic side. The Republicans, who were as cool as philosophers, demanded that there should be quiet on the other side, as even the stentorian voice of the Clerk was drowned. Several times the roll call was suspended to give the animated Democrats time to collect their bewildered thoughts and get back to their seats. Mainly they refrained from voting until the completion of the call, then twenty-two voted no, among them Finley, of Ohio, one of the prime movers of the present investigation. But when he saw how overwhelming were the odds against him, his courage oozed away, and just before the vote was announced he changed to yeas, amid applause and great laughter. His face was very red, and evidently a mighty conflict of emotion was going on inside. Crittenden, of Missouri, standing near, warmly congratulated the Ohio gentleman upon the wisdom of his last vote, and gave him a large red rose in token of his appreciation. Thus was Finley made to rejoice in his anti-Mexican attitude. Several Democrats who have been "slunk away" when the test came. There was general surprise when the title disturbers showed up but twenty-one votes. The weakness of the minority was owing to their having heard from the country. The nays were Blackburn, Bliss, Boone, Bragg, Coke, Cox of New York, Elam, Fuller of Indiana, Hamilton, of Indiana, Hardenberg, Henkle, Henry, Hewitt, (N. Y.), Maham, Phelps, Pridemore, Robertson, Smith, (Ga.), Springer, Southard and Warner. Immediately on the announcement of the result of two hundred and fifteen yeas to twenty-one nays, Hartridge, of Georgia, as if to clinch the matter, presented the majority report of the Judiciary Committee upon the famous Montgomery Blair resolution. He said that it was not intended to present this until Saturday, but as the question had been sprung, he thought the time to present the report was now. It was listened to with profound attention. The great noise and confusion gave way to dead silence. Upon the adoption of this report the yeas and nays were demanded. Many Democrats refrained from voting until the last, to see how it would go. The affirmative was so overwhelming that finally all but fifteen fell into line, and the country escapes the danger of Mexicanization. It is thought this will throw a damper upon the Potter investigation, as it had its origin in a consuming desire to change Presidents. There is now no way tooust Hayes but by his impeachment, and so far the investigators have utterly failed to connect him with any alleged frauds. Democrats were forced to vote as they did Friday by public sentiment, the utterances of the press, and particularly by the dreaded expressions of opinion received from business men all over the country. Three weeks ago there would have been but a small majority in favor of such a resolution as was passed. There was no resisting the overwhelming sentiment of the people against any Mexicanization of this country.

Some of the Mexicanizers are greatly disturbed about the non-production of the original Sherman-Anderson letter, and they have about settled down to the belief that the letter is a myth, a false pretense supplied by the Tildens to make a show of foundation for the revolutionary work which they began, with Potter in the lead. This conviction impelled many Friday to vote for the Burchard preamble and resolution who would not have done so a week ago.

Gen. Noyes, United States minister to France, has returned to this country to meet the charges made against him by McLin.

The sum of one hundred and twenty-five dollars for each Senator's and Representative's newspapers and stationery during the extra session of Congress has been included in the appropriation bill. The amount is the same as that which is usually allowed for the whole year.

The patent office pays in a net profit of $10,000 a month, and the Government holds more than a million to the credit of the patent fund, and yet business is delayed because Congress neglects to make the proper appropriation for conducting the business of inventors.

Workingmen and negroes have been holding meetings at the East front of the Capitol for three successive nights, and have been addressed by Hendrick B. Wright, of Pennsylvania, Carter Harrison, of Illinois, and others, some of whom indulged in the worst communistic language.

There is great rejoicing among claim agents over the passage by the House of Potter's bill referring all private claims to the Court of Claims for adjudication. This is regarded as the most infamous measure passed by Congress in years, and will prove a perfect bonanza to claim agents. The Court of Claims will be deluged with rebel war claims, and as the bill does not raise the question of loyalty, millions will be taken from the treasury. The Senate may refuse to pass the bill.

Democrats in Congress Going Back on "Reform."

From the New York Sun, (Democratic).

Democrats in both the Senate and House are much less anxious to renege and reform as applied to the officers employed at both ends of the Capitol than they were when their grip on the patronage was less secure. In the first session of the Forty-fourth Congress the House reduced the pay of its employees, and all through the campaign Democratic Representatives were pointing with pride to the fact that the Republican Senate had not reduced the salaries of its employees. After the 4th of March next the Senate will be Democratic, and the Republican Senators, in the conference yesterday on the Legislative bill, turned over the defence of the high salaries paid by the Senate to their Democratic colleague. He defended high salaries as vigorously as though his party had never been a party of renege and reform. The end of it is that the House yields by coming up to what Democrats in the House have been for two years calling the extravagance of the Republican Senate. Salaries in the two chambers will in future be the same—that is, the House takes this year of all years to rival and equal the Senate in its extravagance.

The Pottawatomie Reserve.
The Pottawatomie Reserve is located in the Eastern part of Kansas, and in the centre of the oldest settled part of the State; is thirty miles square, lying West of the Northwestern corner of the State, and four miles South of that city. Those portions of the reserve now belonging to the A. T. & S. P. R. Co., lie in the Northwestern part of Shawnee County, in the Northeastern part of Wabasha, in the Southeastern part of Pottawatomie, and in the Southwestern corner of Jackson County.

The Pottawatomie Nation, in 1837, by treaty with the United States, agreed to move "West or Southwest of the Missouri River," and after nine years spent in examining all over this country, assisted by their smart, intelligent and experienced traders, their zealous, business-like friends (their missionaries), and by the agents of the Government, they finally selected for their future home the celebrated tract of land now so well known as the "Pottawatomie Reserve." Thirty years ago, having ceded to the United States their former homes, the best parts of the States of Illinois and Indiana, they purchased and moved upon it, and continued to occupy it until recently.

The United States, in accordance with the treaty of 1868 with the Pottawatomie Nation, sold to the A. T. & S. P. R. Co., the greater portion of this Reserve; and the Company has paid for it in full, and patents have been issued to the Company for said lands. (These are now on record in the different counties in which the lands lie.) Early in 1869 they were placed upon the market by the Company, and they continued to sell rapidly until 1870-71, when the Company had completed its railroad Southwestwardly into its land-grant lands. As yet there were few settlements in that country, and little business for the railroad to do; hence it became the policy of the Company to devote its energies to the settlement and development of that country, in order to create business for its road; and incidentally, it drew all attention from the Pottawatomie Reserve lands, and virtually withdrew them from market.

The trustees who now have the disposition of these lands for the Company, have determined to again place them upon the market, and dispose of them as rapidly, and close up the business as soon as possible; and to this end, they have placed at such low prices that they think that persons wishing to purchase land in the West, will, upon seeing these and their advantages, avail themselves of the opportunity to buy such desirable lands for so little money.

The Indians have, for the past four or five years, been "passing away," "down South," into the Indian country, where they have selected their new homes, and now all have gone, except a few quiet half-breeds, and in turn their places are being rapidly occupied by intelligent, enterprising, industrious, moral citizens, who not only have the advantages of the wealth of rich soil, healthy air, pure water, and last, but not least, that nature has lavished upon the Reserve, but they have also the advantages of the railroads, the schools, the churches, and the society that have been brought into and about the Reserve by the enterprise and energies of the people who have been for 20 years settling and accumulating around it.

The terms of payment are: One-fifth cash at time of purchase, with interest on deferred payments for one year. One year thereafter only the interest to be paid on the deferred payments. The third year, and each year thereafter until the entire amount is paid, one-fifth of the purchase-money, with interest on the remaining deferred payments.

A liberal discount to parties preferring to pay all cash.

Jas. Blaydes has returned from Texas to settle up his business. He says that he will return again this fall. One of our young men left last week; cause, too much intimacy with a neighbor's wife. It will not do to kiss and hug a woman when her husband is looking on through a window.

The old settlers reunion in Hendricks county Saturday was largely attended. Dr. A. C. Stevenson was one of the speakers. The following officers were chosen for the next meeting, to take place on the same spot on the third Saturday in June, 1879: W. G. Truster, Pecksburg, President; Dandridge Tucker, Keel River, Vice President; Thomas Marshall, Secretary. Two small accidents occurred during the day, William Serber, of Morgan county, being shot in the fleshy part of the fore arm by a drunken man, who did not know his pistol was loaded, and a country boy was struck over the head with a bat, by incautiously approaching an awkward and excited ball player.

The Indians are on their summer jaunt for the scalps of the pale faces, and there is a hurrying to an arm of the few companies of United States troops who are bravely trying to do police duty in the Department of the Pacific. The savages are in strong force, stronger than the soldiers, who are expected and required to make their courage compensate for their lack of numbers. Oregon, Nevada, Utah and Idaho are likely to know all the horrors of Indian warfare this year, and the farmers in the threatened sections are fleeing to the forts for refuge. Couple this outbreak with the dangers, real and imagined, of communistic fanatics in the States, and we have an outlook for the desperation and hopelessness for which the people are indebted to Abram S. Hewitt and his Democratic colleagues in Congress, and their efforts to destroy the efficiency of the army.

GRAND EXCURSION TO Topeka, Kansas.

An excursion of "land buyers" will leave Indianapolis Tuesday, June 25th, over the Indianapolis & St. Louis Railroad, for Topeka, Kansas, to see the celebrated Pottawatomie Reserve Lands of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Co. Parties leaving in Putnam and adjoining counties will be afforded an opportunity to join this excursion at Greencastle. Tickets for the round trip, (good from Greencastle to Topeka and return) amount paid for the ticket retained in full. These lands, the Pottawatomie Reserve Lands, are known throughout the country as the "Garden Spot of Kansas." The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Co. has again placed these lands in the market. They will be sold on long terms, and at such low prices that they are now within the grasp of all, both rich and poor, thereby enabling persons who possess only very moderate shares of this world's goods, to secure a home and pay for it from the products of the soil. With the purchase of a few acres of land, a person's command could not wish for a safer investment, as these lands are very rapidly appreciating in value. It will soon be entirely out of the market. Remember the day, Tuesday, June 25, 1878.

MY Piano Room
on Jackson Street,

On account of its size and location proving inadequate to the wants of my growing business and insufficient for the increased patronage with which a discriminating public favored me, I became convinced this Greencastle needed a FIRST-CLASS MUSIC STORE, and that I was the man to establish it. In the erection on INDIANA STREET of a new MUSIC HALL, which is pronounced tasteful and elegant by citizens and strangers alike, I have given to the public a substantial pledge of the earnestness of my convictions.

In my store will, among others, always be found the INCOMPARABLE PIANOS of

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

Henry Farrow suffers with sore eyes.

Serenading parties every night this week.

Hon. John Hanna will arrive at home today.

Two chimney sweeps have been in the city this week.

J. F. Duckworth is again a citizen of Greencastle.

Dr. Joyce will spend next Sunday at Terre Haute.

The lively stables have done a good business this week.

Gov. Williams was the guest of Col. C. C. Matson last night.

And yet the alleys are not cleaned up, although the hot weather is here.

Ex-policeman Owen talks flippantly with a bull on his little right cheek.

Mrs. Weiler B. Smith, of Indianapolis, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Reed.

Offensive localities can be cheaply disinfected with copperas dissolved in water.

Reed Root, of Edwardsville, Ill., is visiting his sister, Mrs. Charles W. Landes.

E. F. Tennant and wife, of Mooresville, are visiting J. G. Tennant and family.

W. H. Smythe, Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Masons, has removed to Indianapolis.

G. W. Barr reported "Commencement" for the BANNER. Mr. Barr has the journalistic instinct.

Rescue, the king of Putnam trotters, has also been made the subject of a nice picture by Duroe.

Every voter should have correct political information. This is furnished in the BANNER at only 15 cents a month.

J. W. Perry, Clerk of Lucas county, Iowa, arrived at his old home in Putnam Tuesday, on a visit to his friends.

Spenders are flooding the country with the Mexican silver dollars. Banks and leading business houses allow only 90 cents for them.

The Reading Club will meet at Mrs. Jennie M. Allen's on the 29th inst. Subject for conversation: "Customs and Manners of the French."

One of the best ways to make Republican votes is to circulate sound periodical literature. The BANNER is only 15 cents a month, or $1.50 a year.

They rested on the front gate until eleven o'clock Tuesday night, when Mike Ragan, the policeman, told him to "move on." Cruel Mike!

The streets have presented quite an animated appearance during the past week with the throngs of visitors in attendance at Commencement.

The BANNER had a pleasant call Tuesday from Revs. Samuel Beck and W. A. Smith. Mr. Beck is highly pleased in his new field of labor in Lebanon.

Jack Stevens is doing good work in the temperance cause. He says that he has tried both whisky and the blue ribbon, and he finds a great deal more happiness with the latter.

Mrs. G. W. Ames and family have removed from Vincennes to this place, and again occupy their property on East Washington street. Mr. Ames is traveling in Minnesota.

F. M. Lacy, the Indianapolis artist, called on the BANNER yesterday and left his card for one year. Mr. Lacy was formerly a student of Asbury, and was afterward a teacher in Japan for two years.

The alarm of fire Tuesday afternoon was caused by the burning of gasoline at John Merryweather's grocery. No damage. On returning to the engine house one of the wheels of the engine broke through the floor.

A Mrs. Phillips, of Barnesville, Ohio, writes us for information concerning her husband and a woman—a grass widow with one child, she says—named Blowers, whom she thinks are now living in Greencastle. She says that she is left with three little children to support. He left home Tuesday last without telling her where he was going. Mrs. Phillips will be thankful for any word concerning her truant husband.

City School Fund.

The following exhibits the receipts and expenditures of the city school funds for the years 1874, '75, '76, and '77, together with the scholastic enumeration for the same years, including that for the year 1878, and the cost of tuition pro rata for the "average scholars belonging," as well as a pro rata for the "enumeration" for the same year:

RECEIPTS.	1874.	1875.	1876.	1877.
Tuition fund...	5,005 30	9,753 00	11,673 00	12,298 49
Special fund...	4,406 83	6,810 22	4,066 37	5,127 70
EXPENDITURES.
Tuition fund...	3,975 00	4,783 00	6,119 00	6,005 00
Special fund...	3,951 56	5,043 28	3,842 82	3,119 59
Scholarship pro rata...	1,138	1,177	1,281	1,223
AS EMPLOYED...	6 73	7 16	7 77	7 51
AS BELONGING...	11,382	15 46	17 38	15 50
TOTAL, OR BALANCE...	1,131 30	5,102 66	5,554 09	6,133 49
Special fund...	1,582 29	3,404 94	2,223 50	1,978 11
Scholarship population in 1878, 1,419.

The receipts include the balance brought forward from each year, subject to the expenditures of each year. There has been paid out of special fund twenty-three hundred dollars for the benefit of Third Ward lot and improvements up to and including 1877.

It will be seen that there are two distinct funds, which, by the statute, are defined tuition and special school revenue. From the tuition fund is paid the salaries of teachers, excluding the salary of superintendent, which is paid out of special fund. The current expenses—janitor's and officer's salaries, fuel, repairs, improvements, &c., &c., are charged to, or paid out of special fund. The tuition fund is derived from a pro rata distribution of the common school funds of the State and the congressional township school fund. The special revenue is derived from a tax levied at the instance of the city school trustees and approved by the City Council, assessed by the County Auditor and collected with general tax. The assessment required for 1878, and to be assessed, is 15 cents on the one hundred dollars. The fund to erect, or to aid in the purchase of realty and the erection of school houses, is created by the City Council on the demand of the trustees, and they expended.

It is shown by the school statistics of the city for the year 1877, that, with an enumeration of its scholastic population of 1,223, the average number belonging to the city schools for the same year was 623. Of the scholastic population there is probably 100 in Asbury University and the Female Academy, thus leaving 500 of school age outside of the teaching and influence of the ward schools. Compulsory education or other influences would seem to be necessary.

It has been suggested with much reason that either the High School should be abandoned, or that its teachings should be equal to that of the Preparatory department of Asbury, and qualify the graduates of the High School to enter the classical department of the University. It may be well, and it is commended to the trustees of the city schools, on the score of economy, and for other good considerations, to adopt a curriculum and mature a practical arrangement efficient and thorough that the number of the students of the High School shall be increased, and making it possible for such as desire to step from the High School into the classical or scientific department of Asbury. Greencastle is greatly aided by its importance as an educational center, and it becomes those interested to be watchful and diligent, that its reputation shall not only be sustained but justly assert larger claims on the confidence and patronage of the public by the increased activities of its educational efforts and machinery.

CLIFFORD'S FEBRIFUGE—Palatable, Powerful, Antiperiodic, and Tonic—Nature's remedy for Fever and Ague. Never known to fail in a single case. This popular remedy differs from all other Ague Cures, in being free from all poisonous effects on the system; it enters into the circulation and destroys all malarious poison, and thus eradicates the disease without producing any of those distressing after-sensations, such as fullness and pain in the head, ringing in the ears and partial deafness. Try it once and you will never be without it.

Asbury University.

FRIDAY.

The exercises of the Senior Preparatory class were held Friday evening. This opened the 39th Annual Commencement of Asbury. About twelve hundred persons were present, nearly all from the city, as but few visitors had yet arrived. There were 51 graduates from the department. The exercises consisted of singing by the class, orations, declamations, a very laughable farce, and theatricals, consisting of selections from Lady of Lyons and Macbeth. All did splendidly, and the performance would do credit to a higher class.

SATURDAY.

Saturday was occupied by examinations. In the evening the exercises of Plato took place. Thirteen graduates received diplomas. The house was not nearly so well filled as on the previous night. The programme consisted of a declamation, essay, orations and debate. President Rhea conferred the diplomas in a Latin speech. The city band furnished music.

At 8:30 Sunday morning the annual class-meeting was held in Philo hall, which was filled. At 10:30 President Martin delivered the Baccalaureate sermon, and in the afternoon, Dr. Edwards, editor of the Northwestern Christian Advocate, delivered the annual lecture. Rev. A. Marine, of Richmond, preached Sunday evening.

MONDAY.

Monday forenoon the examinations were continued. At two o'clock the Darnall contest in oratory took place. This prize was $25, donated by the Darnall Brothers of this city. There were seven contestants. The judges were Prof. Marquis, Rev. Arthur Edwards, of this city, Rev. W. R. Halstead, of Mitchell, Hon. T. B. Redding, of Newcastle, and Rev. A. Marine, of Richmond. The floor of the chapel was comfortably filled, with a fair sprinkling of visitors from abroad.

At 4:20 the judges came in with their report, announcing W. S. Morris as taking the prize, which was presented to him in an appropriate speech by Prof. Ridpath. The prize has been renewed for next year by Messrs. Darnalls.

The Philomathean society held their valedictory exercises in the evening, consisting of orations, declamations and debate. Miss Susie Hopwood delivered the valedictory and Miss Josie Hays the reply oration. Diplomas were conferred on seven ladies, graduating this year.

TUESDAY.

Examinations were concluded Tuesday forenoon. In the afternoon the C. G. Cloud prize contest in declamation took place. The prizes amounted to seventy-five dollars, thirty-five for first, twenty-five for second and fifteen for third. Competition was limited to the Freshman, Sophomore and Junior classes. Ten members of these classes completed. Messrs. Mark L. DeMotte, J. L. Rippetoe, N. A. Chamberlain, H. C. Allen and Dr. J. E. Eap acted as judges. While they were deciding, Dr. Rogers announced the successful competitors for the Latin prize. The money was divided, Miss Minetta J. Taylor receiving fifteen, and R. J. Smith ten dollars. They were called to the rostrum where they were presented by Dr. Rogers. C. F. Coffin, F. L. Hall W. T. Neff took the prizes for declamation. The money was presented to them by Mr. Mark L. DeMotte.

The trustees met at 2 p. m., but transacted no important business. The usual committees of Faculty, buildings and grounds, finance, auditing and agencies were appointed.

At 7:30 Philo's valedictory exercises were held. Isaac Carter delivered the special oration. Diplomas were conferred on twelve members of the Senior class. Tuesday morning the graduating class were elected members of the society of Alumni.

WEDNESDAY.

The Alumni Association met at nine o'clock Wednesday. After a great deal of discussion it was decided to invite the trustees, official visitors, faculty and members of the press to the banquet. An address to the trustees was reported by the committee, read by Capt. C. W. Smith, and adopted, asking that the association be represented on the Board of trustees. Col. C. C. Matson was elected orator for next year, and Prof. Bassett poet.

Wednesday morning the trustees granted to the Alumni a representative on the board for each conference. This will add four persons to the board. They also called a meeting of the friends of Asbury in Roberts Park Church, Indianapolis, for October 23d, to raise funds and look after the interests of the University. They agreed to serve without traveling expenses hereafter. The salaries of the faculty of the college proper, and of executive officers of the board, were reduced ten per cent.

The present Faculty was re-elected, and then the rule requiring an election, each Commencement was repealed.

The Alumni banquet was held during the afternoon.

The Cadets paraded after the banquet and were reviewed by Gov. Williams, who arrived on the afternoon train from Terre Haute.

Rev. W. F. Gilmore failed to appear to make the oration before the Alumni at night. S. A. Hays presided. Miss Alma Holman, of the class of '77, read an excellent poem, and was followed in short speeches by Gov. Williams, Col. Will Cumback, Capt. Eli Ritter, and a Mr. McIntosh. Rev. W. R. Halstead then took up a collection, amounting to $113, to purchase lamps for the hall.

The evening's exercises wound up with a procession of under-graduates through the city, dressed in fantastic costumes, and carrying banners, torches and a coffin filled with their old school books. The band marched at their head. Arriving at the new campus the books were cremated with the usual ceremonies.

MISCELLANEOUS.
Prof. Baker treated the Philosophical out-going Senior Preparatory to cherries Saturday instead of an examination. Prof. Bassett furnished the Classical with candy, etc., and they had a grand banquet with toasts and other auxiliaries.

Will M. Aiken, Jr., graduated Philosophical with the Senior class. Rumor says matrimonial affairs hurried his departure from Asbury.

The classical section of the out-going Senior preparatory class presented Prof. Bassett with a nine dollar cake basket Monday.

An unsuccessful effort was made Friday to arrange a game of base ball with the Kokomo club, to take place Commencement.

The authorities of McKendree College have had printed in full the lecture by Dr. Eap delivered there last week on "The Philosophy of Education." It was delivered here Sunday, May 28th, by the Doctor.

Prof. O. H. Blackledge and wife, of Cicero, are visiting at Henry Landes's.

Will Terrell, of the U. S. A. Pay Department, San Antonio, Texas, is in the city this week visiting old friends and his alma mater.

Mrs. Lizzie Clark, for the past year in charge of the art department, will spend vacation in western Indiana and Michigan, and return in time to resume teaching in September.

Robert F. Kerr, of Kentland, arrived yesterday and returned home to-day.

PERSONAL.—The following well-known persons were here commencement week: Hon. W. C. DePauw, New Albany; Jesse Melhary, Shawnee Mound; Rev. J. B. South End.
There is much complaint here of the turbulence of some of the sovereigns. Fights and rows are of frequent occurrence recently.

The night operator at the depot was attacked with a fit Friday night.

Varmints have killed several fine chickens for Hawley Steele lately.

Jack Stevens is gaining a reputation abroad as a fine temperance orator.

The Champion engine was cleaned last week by the firemen.

Cole Bro's pump works are running on full time now.

A man named Jamison, who has been living here the past winter, left the city clandestinely with his family Sunday night. Many persons hold unsettled accounts against him.

The many rumors of impending strikes among laboring men in large cities do not meet with favor among the rolling mill men here. They are decidedly opposed to communism.

The amount of freight shipments has not been better on the Vandalia railroad for years past than now.

John Coleman went on the excursion to Bloomington Sunday and reports having had a pleasant time.

Elephant Vogel and his new wife have gone to housekeeping.

Buddy Boyle is an enthusiastic admirer of blooded horses. He has a sorrel mare that he believes to possess fast speed.

The rolling mill base ball club played with the Phenix club Saturday. The rain prevented the game being completed.

James H. Allison has improved his property very much. There is a rumor that he is to be married soon.

The freight house and wood-shed yards at the Vandalia depot have been cleaned of all grass to prevent them taking fire from engines.

Harris & Co. and Callender & Dunn receive letters frequently from dealers praising the fine quality of flour that they make.

TRIUMPHANTLY.
Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts have stood the tests of science and of practical use triumphantly, and now are taking precedence over all others. They are justly entitled to the reputation they have acquired, for their strength, purity and delicacy of flavor.
